FLOOD UPDATE

Collection Room

Members will be aware that our Collection Room in the basement of St Kilda Library was flooded in February — for the second time in six months.

The regretful consensus of the Collection Team is that the room is no longer suitable for our purposes, not only because of the flooding but also because of mildew and mould — which are not covered by insurance.

Costumes

SKHS is very grateful to St Kilda Library for all the assistance they gave us during the flood and for very kindly providing us with a space to temporarily store our costume collection.

Books & Records

Some of the books, records and artefacts will be stored in the Society's office in St Kilda Library.

Boxed Items

Most of the already boxed and catalogued collection are relocated to the storage space in the community room and modular shelving purchased to accommodate same.

Larger Objects

Our Collection team is on the lookout for a suitable museum space within the municipality to house and display the 3-d objects in our Collection.

These include:- Neon Skating Girl; Christ Church Bell; Friendly Society paraphernalia as well as a Gallier & Klaerr Bushman's Stove, a Malvern Star bicycle, various costumes and footwear as well as framed and unframed images, posters, maps, invitations and other ephemera.

If anyone has suggestions/solutions, please contact us on info@skhs.org.au.

HISTORY ON SHOW

In addition to cataloguing, members Maureen Walker and Kitty Barclay have kindly agreed to coordinate three themed historical exhibitions per year for SKHS in the library foyer showcase. They will also change the content of the small glass display cabinet in the library study area on a regular basis. In addition, they hope to organise a special panel-show to celebrate History Week Victoria (last week in October).

Should members have any feasible ideas for a themed display in the future or would like to arrange an exhibition, do email info@skhs.org.au

SOCIETY BANNER

SKHS is grateful to the Royal Historical Society of Victoria (RHSV) for selecting us as the recipient of a small grant that will enable us to create a new banner promoting our society.

SKHS Committee are currently working on a draft design and would welcome input from any graphic artist(s) out there.

H-FILES

Many thanks to Dorothy Lobert who exchanged all the archaic suspension files in our filing cabinets for new ones and re-organised our documents and images so they may be found more easily.

ST KILDA GARDENS 150TH

CoPP CULTURAL HERITAGE REFERENCE COMMITTEE 2011—2013

When City of Port Phillip invited the St Kilda Historical Society to nominate a representative to serve on its Cultural Heritage Reference Committee (CHRC) 2011—2013 commencing July 2011, Peter Johnson, our President and Heritage Officer kindly agreed to serve on our society's behalf.

CHRC replaces the Urban History Consultative Committee whose terms of membership have expired. That committee was initiated to focus specifically on the development of an Urban History Centre at Emerald Hill Library.

CHRC's revised purpose is to:

- ◆ provide input to policies which impact on heritage and history, including acquisition and de-accessioning processes for the [city's] Heritage Collection
- ◆ make suggestions on improving access to heritage services for residents
- ◆ assist in the development of city-wide programs to highlight historical and heritage assets of the city
- ◆ access community resources where relevant to support heritage services.

The composition of the Committee is as follows:

-A Councillor

-Up to four community members who have a demonstrable interest in heritage topics or have experience in a heritage services field

-A representative nominated by each of the historical societies: Port Melbourne, St Kilda and Middle Park.

VICTORIAN WOMEN'S HONOR ROLL

SKHS member Brenda Richards was recently inducted into the Victorian Honor Roll for Women which recognises women who have made a difference to Victorian society. Brenda was a founding member of the Council of Single Mothers & their Children and strongly advocated on their behalf. Incidentally, she is also joint Number One ticket holder at St Kilda City Football Club, the reigning Division 1 senior premiers.

THE ST KILDA CODE

John M. seeks information on "...the decorative panels as you enter the St Kilda Public Library looks like cuneiform script..."

Image : John M. 2010

RESPONSE

... I suspect that you are possibly right and it is a form of cuneiform script.

That is the sort of thing the architects ARM (Ashton Raggatt McDougall) would do. They are interested in using 'layered meaning' in their work.

You could contact them for a more definitive answer.

UFS DISPENSARY

Do you have any information or photos connected with the former UFS (United Friendly Societies) St Kilda Dispensary — opp. St Kilda City Hall?

The Dispensary, at the time regarded one of the most advanced in the British Empire, was built around 1940 on the corner of Brighton Rd & Moroney Street.

Contact Peter Johnson, email heritage@skhs.org.au

On the off-chance that members or readers may be able to provide some additional information, St Kilda Times reproduces the following queries recently received by SKHS.

Should you happen to have any related documents or photos please let Peter Johnson know. Email heritage@skhs.org.au; Mail PO Box 177 Balaclava, Vic. 3183.

GEORGE CASE LESH

Dear Historian,

I am researching my ancestor George Case Lesh who lived for a short while in Inkerman St.

When he sold the house it was described as being opposite the house of Mr Bunny. I believe Mr Bunny's house was called Eckerberg, but I do not have the house number.

George Case Lesh's house was described as a four roomed veranda cottage with detached kitchen, stabling, out houses, and a large garden with vines in full bearing.

Can you give me any help in finding the house of my ancestor supposing it still exists.

Many thanks.

Best regards,
Elizabeth

Tues, Apr 12, 2011 at 12:45 AM, Peter Johnson replied

Hello Elizabeth,

Eckerberg House, later called Huntingdon, was at 132 Inkerman Street in 1897. See attached plan [not reproduced here due to lack of space]

... When John Vardy prepared his survey of St Kilda in 1872, there were several timber cottages opposite Eckerberg. It is difficult to know exactly which one Lesh lived in as the houses were not numbered then.

Anyway they were all demolished for the Galliers & Klaerr workshop and foundry as it expanded in the early 1900s. So it is gone, I am afraid. Today a six-storey residential block stands in its place.

If anything comes to light in the next couple of months, I shall certainly let you know.
Regards

Peter Johnson, President & Heritage Officer, St Kilda Historical Society

Sun, Apr 17, 2011 at 9:07 PM, supplementary question from Elizabeth

G C Lesh had cash flow problems and was constrained to sell all his household possessions as can be seen in the attached clipping from the Argus 17 July 1867. He was selling all the trappings of the well to do Victorian gentleman!

My question is would he have been able to keep his horses, cows and calves on his property in Inkerman street?

With thanks and best regards,

Elizabeth

SUGGESTIONS FOR SKHS HISTORY RESEARCH PROJECTS

— Amalgamation 1994 —

An SKHS Committee member reminds us that the 20th anniversary of the Amalgamation of the former municipalities of Port Melbourne, South Melbourne and St Kilda — by commissioners appointed by Premier Kennett's government and proclaimed the City of Port Phillip — is just three years away (22 June 2014).

Do let SKHS committee know if any SKHS member(s) are interested in volunteering to begin some primary research into events leading up to the Amalgamation.

— Arthur Phillip —

Many of us know very little about the man whose name our city now bears, Governor Arthur Phillip.

Anyone fascinated by this naval officer and willing to compile some biographical information about him, do contact SKHS Committee on info@skhs.org.au.

28TH ST KILDA FILM FESTIVAL 25—29 MAY 2011

Thanks to Port Phillip City Council, the St Kilda International Film Festival returned to The Astor Theatre in 2011 (opening night at The Palais). And, as some of us know, the festival is one of Melbourne's longest running, most high profile and significant cultural community festivals.

The Astor showcased an array of Australia's Top 100 and international Short Films from Germany, The Netherlands, Ireland and a collection of films from Israel and Palestine plus hosted guest appearances by some of the directors.

The program also included cult event SoundKILDA (Australian crafted music video competition); an Industry Open Day; Filmmaker Development sessions, and Drive-In Delirium's Horrorpalooza featuring some rather eye-popping horror trailers.

ST KILDA BOTANIC GARDENS WALK

During our enjoyable walk in beautiful weather, Sunday March 20, Patricia Convery, a member of SKHS and Friend of St Kilda Botanic Gardens (www.foskbg.org.au), reminded us that the history of the Gardens began in November 1859, barely just two years after the first Municipal District elections in 1857 when the inaugural St Kilda Council voted to reserve sixteen acres for one of Melbourne's earliest Botanic Gardens.

German born lithographer and architect, Mr Tilman Gloystein* won the design competition. His formal setting of a north-south path axis leading to a central layout of garden beds was maintained by George Brunning (Bunning St) subsequently appointed first garden curator.

Consultant to the Planting Committee, Baron Ferdinand von Mueller, the indefatigable Director of the Royal Botanical Gardens from 1857, contributed several hundred plants, shrubs and trees with many of his Pines, Cypresses and Moreton Bay Figs still standing today.

A large 'Floral and Musical Fete' officially opened the Gardens in November 1861. More recently new gates, commissioned by Port Phillip City and designed by David Wood from "Bent Metal" were installed and formally opened, October 2010.

Our thanks go to Patricia for such an interesting and enjoyable walk, and to Valma Leonard for baking one of her inimitable Barm Bracks (recipe in Issue No 205) for afternoon tea.

* Should you have any info/pics of Tilman Gloystein, please contact SKHS or FoSKBG

 Do let us know if you have any suggestions as to how SKHS could mark the Garden's 150th in November.

ST KILDA ECCENTRICS

Meyer* Eidelson delighted SKHS members and visitors on Thursday night April 14 with his illustrated biogs of ten famous (and infamous) eccentrics with connections to St Kilda. Included among them: Bunjil; Derrimut; William Barak; Granny; Caroline Hodgson better known as Mme Brussels; Frederick Valentich; The Stones and Donleavy Fitzpatrick.

*For newer members who may be unaware of Meyer's contributions to our city's heritage:- not only is he past president of SKHS from 2001—2008; he designs, coordinates and implements the free walks program showcasing the heritage of precincts across the City of Port Phillip (see P8) as well as the City of Maribyrnong.

Meyer has also written several books: War Fever in Port Phillip: the 150th Anniversary of the Crimean War 1854-1856; The Melbourne Dreaming: a Guide to the Aboriginal Places of Melbourne; Stony Creek: the Journey of a Waterway and its People; Secrets of the Seaside Suburbs: a Guide to the Wildlife of Port Phillip; Walks in Port Phillip: a Guide to the Cultural Landscapes of a City, and Nation Builders: Great Lives and Stories of St Kilda Cemetery.

Meyer is also co-founder and director of melbournewalks.com — "creating unique journeys for individuals, groups and schools through Melbourne's urban, natural, historic and indigenous landscapes".

MELBOURNE REMADE: THE INNER CITY SINCE THE 70s

Those unable to attend SKHS members' meeting on Thursday evening, May 19, missed a truly standout presentation by Dr Seamus O'Hanlon titled 'Melbourne Remade' about the many changes Inner Melbourne has experienced since the Seventies.

Dr O'Hanlon, Deputy Director Institute of Public History*, School of Historical Studies, Monash University, took his audience on a riveting tour of Inner Melbourne's streetscapes and on the way unravelled the underlying stories of their profound transformation from, for the most part, industrial wasteland to our event, sport and cultural heartland.

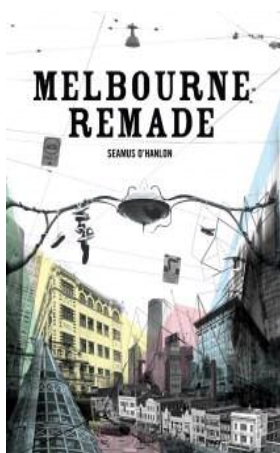

Melbourne Remade is also the title of his A6 pocket-sized book published by Arcade Publications launched during the 2010 Melbourne Writers Festival.

INSTITUTE OF PUBLIC HISTORY [Downloaded from www.arts.monash.edu.au]

The Institute for Public History, Monash University:-

The role of the Institute is to engage in community engagement programs that strengthen the links between historians inside and outside the university, and to create closer ties between professional historians, alumni, and a wider, interested public."

NAIDOC WEEK 3—10 July

Activities take place across the nation during NAIDOC Week in the first full week of July, and all Australians are encouraged to participate. Details: www.naidoc.org.au or www.vic.gov.au/event/2011/07/naidoc-week.html

NAIDOC stands for National Aborigines and Islanders Day Observance Committee. Its origins can be traced to the emergence of Aboriginal groups in the 1920s which sought to increase awareness in the wider community of the status and treatment of Indigenous Australians. Today, NAIDOC celebrates Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander cultures and is an opportunity to recognise the contributions of Indigenous Australians in various fields.
